

Naseem Mahmood Chaudhry, MD Introduction:

Dr Naseem is the founder and CEO of Two Telemedicine and Telehealth companies which were envisioned and developed by him from scratch. He owns distinct IP including domain names, trademarks, internet/technology platforms with multiple patents pending.

Dr Naseem is US board certified since 1993. He has held many Academic, Administrative and Clinical Leadership positions since completing his specialization, including Clinical Associate Professorship and Medical Directorship of Hospitals. He has actively pursued education in the areas of Technology, software development, and Business. He is currently pursuing MBA with emphasis on Innovation and Systems development.

He is very keen to help improve healthcare in Pakistan by bringing some of these modern innovations in healthcare delivery systems here.

His topic of presentation today focuses on the current state of the art trends in medicine, technology and innovations.